MARRIED 50 YEARS

MR. AND MRS. W. E. TRUEBLOOD CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.

TIME ALL SPENT HERE

Couple Have Lived All of Wedded Life in Maryville—Have Two Children and Three Grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Trueblood are quietly celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at their home, on East Seventh street, today. One of the exceptional things about this anniversary is that the entire fifty years of their married life were spent in Nodaway county.

Mr. Trueblood, who is now 77 years old, was born in Indiana. He received his education and learned the carpenter's trade in his native state. He enlisted in the army July 11, 1861, joining Company B, Twenty-Second Indiana infantry. Soon after enlisting he was appointed sergeant. He was taken prisoner at the battle of Peach Tree Creek, and passed nine months and three days in Andersonville and other prisons.

He participated in the battles of Pea Ridge, Pittsburg Landing and others, and was with Sherman on his march to the sea. With the exception of a slight wound he passed through the rebellion safely, being honorably discharged May 2, 1865. He then returned to Indiana, and the same year came to Maryville.

On November 15, 1866, he married Louisa Jackson at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, one and one half miles north of Maryville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. A. Woods, a Presbyterian minister.

Of this union two children were born, Elmer C. Trueblood of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Emma Trueblood, now Mrs. S. G. Gillam.

In the early days in Maryville Mr. Trueblood engaged in carpenter work, and for seven years made a specialty of bridge building. In 1875 Maryville had need of an official who would see that peace and order was observed, and Mr. Trueblood was chosen to fill this office. He proved himself to be a man equal to any emergency, and tells many tales of the stirring times when Maryville was young. He served three years and then withdrew, but was later re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood have been closely associated with the life of Maryville ever since their marriage. Mrs. Trueblood, who is 66 years old, was born and reared on the farm near Maryville. The couple have three grandchildren, Miss Helen Trueblood and Elmer Trueblood, Jr., both of Oklahoma City, and Forrest Gillam of Maryville, who is now attending the University at Columbia.

The purpose of the organization is to further the interests in the work of the order to procure new members and to stimulate interest in general.

The first meeting of the association will be held in Maryville the second Thursday night in January, as Maryville lodge is the oldest lodge. An all-day session will be held with a meeting in the afternoon. Then degree work will be given at night, followed by a banquet. Some of the state officers will probably attend this meeting.

GAINING POPULARITY

PUBLIC SENTIMENT GROWS YEARLY FAVORING PROHIBITION.

STATE SHOWS INCREASE

St. Louis Responsible for Six More Years of Wet Regime—Denver's Action This Time.

Returns on prohibition voting, not only in the county but in the various states, indicate the increasing popularity of the measure and apparent change of sentiment in favor of the drys in many of the wettest localities.

In Nodaway county, when state-wide prohibition was put before the voters in 1910, 3,049 voted "yes" and 2,861 voted "no." This time the vote for the measure was 4,336 and the vote against was 2,149. In 1910 state-wide prohibition received a majority of 188; in 1916 it received a majority of 2,177.

In Maryville the change of sentiment on the boize question was very marked. The figures for Polk county, including Maryville for 1910 were. For, 795; against, 721. This year the number who voted "yes" was 1,099 and the number who voted "no" was 524. In 1910 the majority for prohibitiin in Polk township was 74; in 1916 the majority for prohibition in Pock tiwnship was 74575.

The vote on the county unit law at the election in 1914 in this ciunty gave 3,453 fir and 1,774 against the measure. It was a constitutional amendment making the county the unit instead of towns or 2,500 or over. It was defeated over the state.

In the State.

St. Louis, Nov. 15.—Official returns from all but fourteen of the counties of Missouri, compiled by the Post-Dispatch, gives the prohibition amendment a majority of more than 14,000 outside St. Louis. The heavy adverse vote of St. Louis defeated the amendment in the state, according to returns already in, by 111,500.

Six years ago when a prohibition amendment was voted on, it lost in the state outside of St. Louis by 92,000. The St. Louis vote brought this adverse majority to about 200,000.

Prohibition carried in Jasper county, which includes Joplin, Pettis county, which includes Sedalia; Greene county, which includes Springfield, and Randolph county, which includes Moberly.

In Kansas City the dry leaders decided at a meeting yesterday to circulate a petition next Sunday to secure the necessary 10 per cent of the vote cast at the recent election to call a special local option election in Jackson county.

The state-wide prohibition amendment, which failed to carry Nov. 7, received a majority of several thousand in Jackson county and of a few hundred in Kansas City.

Representatives of the church and prohibition organizations present at today's meeting declared that about 7,500 names on the petition would be necessary to call a special election. The petition may be filed at any time its preparers decide This point was not settled today, but it is believed there will be little delay.

The law provides the election shall be held forty days after the filing of the petition. This would place it, at the nearest, about Jan. 5, 1917.

In Denver, Colo., the wet and dry forces lined up for their second battle, and the drys succeeded in defeating the beer amendment to the constitution, which proposed to legalize the manufacture of beer for home consumption.

In November, 1914, Denver voted wet by a majority of 8,586, but the state vote made Denver dry. The months under prohibition found a reversion of sentiment and the beer amendment, which was an opening wedge for the restoration of a wet city, was defeated by 11,665 votes. It showed conclusively that Denver is pleased with prohibition.

The total vote on prohibition in 1914 was 67,692, of which 29,553 was for and 38,139 against prohibition. In Tuesday's election the total vote on the beer amendment was 55,915, of which 22,125 was for and 33,790 against the amendment

WRITES OF PRISON

J. C. HEEREY TELLS OF LANSING FROM INMATES' VIEWPOINT.

VISITED IN MARYVILLE

Writer Spent Week Here During County Fair, Photographing Series of Scenes.

J. C. Heerey, a native of Tasmania, Australia, who was in Maryville at the time of the Nodaway county fair for the purpose of taking a series of scenes from the fair, and who had a tent on the grounds where he showed these pictures, has an interesting article in the Kansas City Star about a visit to the Lansing prison at Lansing.

Mr. Heerey's specialty is prison study. Recently he was given permission by Governor Capper to go through the Lansing prison as an inmate. After his stay, he wrote a series of articles on prison conditions as seen from the inside. Extracts from the first of these articles follow:

Safe behind the walls the so-called criminal is in most cases conveniently out of sight and hopelessly out of mind. While waiting the preparation of a waiver "that I will not hold the state of Kansas, the warden, the board, officers and all persons whomsoever responsible for any accident, sickness or liss, directly or indirectly sustained while I am confined at my own request," I have the opportunity of finding out from the daily call board that the prison population totals 847, and includes 502 white and 240 colored males, 4 white and 7 colored females, 3 Indians, 45 Mexicans. The balance is made up of 43 described as "criminally insane" and some "no counts," who are being held for trifling parole violations.

After signing the "waiver" I am handed over to the record clerk. He empties my pockets and very thoroughly searches me from the crown of my head to my boots. My pocket knife, loose silver, check book and scarf pin are retained, but my letters and pocketbook are returned, after being carefully searched. I find out that this prevents "dope" being introduced by newcomers concealed in the leaves of a book or letter.

I am now taken from the administrative building and through the yard to the record office. Details of my commitment being first entered up, I am escorted to the "studio" to be photographed in citizen attire. A small card, on which are printed the letters K. S. P. and the number that has been given to me, is hung to the top of my vest for the full face picture and to my shoulder for the profile view.

S. E. Browne of Hopkins was a Maryville visitor today.

A spectacular plaze and column of smoke brought many of Princeton's residents hurrying to the scene of an automobile accident just west of that city, when an Iowa tourist car turned over and burned up. John Seabra of Webster, Ia., was on his way to Avery, Okla. A short turn, two blowouts, a flopped car, a bursted gasoline tank—and pouff! The young owner was fortunate enough to have been thrown clear of his car at the first flop and is now happily recovering from his injuries.

BRITISH CHECKED

ENGLAND'S SUPREME EFFORT MEETING WITH OBSTACLES.

BEAUCOURT CAPTURED

After Fighting of Great Fierceness Allies Take City—Enormous Losses on All Sides.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Nov. 15.—England's supreme effort on the Somme is now meeting with formidable obstacles. Having pressed forward nearly two miles the British are now facing powerful fortifications between Beaucourt and Miraumont. Strong French infantry attacks were driven home South of Bapaume. Throughout the night there was violent cannonading all along the twenty-mile strip on the Somme front. Dispatches today from the front give graphic accounts of fighting amidst the ruined buildings of Beaucourt, where the soldiers used rifles as clubs and battered their way forward.

Using Liquid Fire.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Using liquid fire bombs, the Germans launched a strong counter attack against the French position south of the Somme river today, the war office announced. All of the assaults were repulsed. The heaviest attacks were in the sector between Abaincourt and Chaulnes.

Capture Beaucourt.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—In fighting of unprecedented fierceness the British forces on the Somme succeeded in capturing Beaucourt, the war office admitted. In other parts the British attacks were broken down with enormous losses. The French joined the attacks on Tuesday south of Bapaume and suffered heavy losses. Furious attacks against the German position on the eastern side of Naraiuvka river were broken down, says the eastern front report. Bucharest is again bombarded by the German aviators.

Bombarding Aerodrome.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The British military aerodrome at St. Pol, near Dunkirk and several factories were bombarded by the German airmen Monday night.

Victory Uncertain in Balkans.

Petrograd, Nov. 15.—The pendulum of victory is swinging with uncertain movement in the Balkans. While the Serbs were moving forward in Macedonia, driving the Bulgarian-Germans before them, the Austro-German offensive against the Northern Rumanians suddenly gained fresh impetus, which rolled back the Russo-Rumanian troops at several points. In Dobrudja, the Mackensen allies are being attacked on three sides.

Uncle Joe Kinman of Elmo is seriously ill at his home.

Now that the election is over, why not begin again the agitation for a Y. M. C. A. building in Maryville?

The coming session of congress will necessarily be a busy one. With the probability of an adverse majority in the next congress, President Wilson and Democratic leaders want to dispose of as much legislation as possible during the coming session. Ordinarily congress has as much as it can well do to pass the fourteen big appropriation bills during the short session, but the president will hardly be satisfied with that this time.

MILITARY TRAINING

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES NEED THIS WORK ESPECIALLY.

AUTHORITIES URGE IT

Prominent Agriculturalists of the Country in Thirtieth Annual Convention at Washington.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Necessity for broadening the scope of military training in agricultural colleges was emphasized today by speakers of nation-wide reputation at the opening session of the thirtieth annual convention of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, United States Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxtop, Major Andrew Moses of the army war college and general staff, and presidents, deans and other officials of agricultural colleges voiced the opinion that congress should give financial aid for military training in agricultural institutions. The placing of greater emphasis on experimental work on engineering problems and methods of conducting extension work for farm women were other subjects discussed by delegates.

The work of the agriculturalists will be divided into sections during the convention, which will last three days. Sectional work will be devoted to colleges, stations, extension work and engineering. Officials and representatives from institutions of all states, and from various departments of the federal government are attending the sessions.

Officers of the association are: President, Charles R. Thorne of Ohio; vice presidents, W. M. Riggs of South Carolina, J. M. Hamilton of Montana, R. J. Aley of Maine, E. A. Burnett of Nebraska, R. W. Thatcher of Washington; secretary-treasurer, J. L. Hills of Vermont; bibliographer, Dr. A. C. True, department of agriculture.

Some of the delegates to the convention also are here as official representatives at the fiftieth annual session of the National Grange of Patrons of Husbandry, which is to continue its sessions until November 24. On November 18 the semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the order will be held.

The farmers' institute workers today concluded their twenty-first annual meeting, the sessions of which have been devoted to discussions of marketing, extension work, soils and economics.

The Association of Official Agricultural Chemists will open its thirty-third annual convention on November 20. Papers and addresses for the most part will deal with technical questions during the three days session.

VILLA AND ENEMIES

BANDIT TAKES EXTREME MEASURES TO DECEIVE CARRANZA.

IS WITH EACH BAND

Instructs Followers to Use His Name to Terrify Peaceful Citizens and Make Looting Easy.

Field Headquarters, Punitive Expedition, Mexico, by motor truck train to Columbus, N. M., Nov. 10.—Pancho Villa has found a new way to mystify his enemies, the Carranzistas, and deceive them as to his personal movements. Mexicans arriving here from the country to the south in which Villa's bandits are operating have brought the story to headquarters of the guerrilla's newest strategy.

The arrivals say Villa has instructed all his subordinate commanders to spread the news through the country that he is with their particular band. As there are less than a dozen bands, varying in length from fifty to three hundred men, and operating in different portions of western Chihuahua, the scheme effectually conceals Villa's whereabouts.

One group of bandits, for instance, rides into Temesachic after dark and takes all the provisions to be found in the village. As they go about their looting, each bandit tells the frightened townspeople that Villa himself is with them. None of the natives is bold enough to go out and see for himself whether the statement is true.

At the same time another band of raiders is robbing a village fifty miles south of Temesachic. These bandits tell the villagers the same story. This may be repeated in half a dozen towns at the same night. Result: Next day General Thevino at Chihuahua City, or General Pershing here, is notified that Villa has been in six widely separated villages on the same night. And the chances are that he has really not been in any of them.

Besides protecting Villa from discovery, this ruse adds strength to the bandit groups using it. The very name of the outlaw is enough to terrorize the peaceful villagers who hear it, and all idea of resistance to the looters, who may be less than fifty strong, disappears.

The few male civilians who venture out of their homes to get a look at the bandit chieftain are promptly made prisoners by the raiders and carried off to serve under Villa—or face the firing squad.

General Pershing remarked today that this stratagem is the main cause of the numerous conflicting reports of Villa's movements which reach the border

"There is no such thing," said the general," as an absolutely reliable and accurate report of Villa's whereabouts. There are times, of course, when Mexicans who have actually seen Villa in a certain place make known the fact, but by the time the information travels two hundred miles overland to me, it is almost certain Villa is somewhere else. It works the same way, I imagine, in reaching General Trevino."

Although Carranzistas and Villistas have clashed several times in the last two weeks, none of the former can say positively that they have seen Villa. But they have always thought he was in personal command of every engagement. This may account for the bandits coming away victorious on nearly every occasion.

"The fox has lost none of his cunning, and his bite is more deadly than ever," is the way the Mexicans describe Villa.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

TO UNDERGO TESTS

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO TO HAVE BRILLIANCY EXAM.

FOR FRESHMEN ONLY

Must Indicate by "Yes" or "No" Whether Chosen Sentences Are Logical.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Freshmen in the University of Chicago must undergo mental tests to determine just how bright they are. After that has been ascertained they are expected to maintain the same standard throughout their entire college course.

Stopwatch in hand, Dr. Henry B. Kitson stands over each student and reads a passage from a book. The student must repeat it. Then the student must read a passage from a book and repeat it without looking at the book again. A number of letters with different addresses are given him and he must arrange them alphabetically. The time required for these and other tests fix his mental powers.

Here is the crowning test of all, however. A number of short sentences are read to the student. Within one second he is expected to indicate by "yes" or "no" whether the statements made in the sentences are logically correct or not. Here are a few samples:

"He was 70 and looked twice that age."

"He lit his cigar with these words."

"With one hand he caressed her; with the other he spoke."

"On his helmet waved the missing plume."

"Two adversaries were placed at an equal distance from each other."

"Freshmen are not allowed to wear soft collars or cuffs on their trousers."

"I have never had any children and my mother was afflicted in the same way."

"The woman finished dressing in her evening clothes and came down to breakfast."

Dr. Kitson said he had found one-half of the students judge such things correctly. It is intended by this plan to ascertain the mental horsepower of each student so that the quick ones may not get off with too little work and the slow ones not be overburdened.

BRITISH OPINION

ENGLISH MAN OF LETTERS GIVES VIEWS ON AMERICANS.

DISCUSS WAR ATTITUDE

Prof. Lapsley Says That Britons Hold Mingled Sentiments of Indignation, Wonder and Bewilderment.

(Written for the International News Service by W. W. Harris.)

New York, Nov. 8.—"What is the real British opinion of America's attitude in this war?"

This is the question I put a short time ago, while crossing the ocean London bound, to Gaillard Lapsley, one of the best informed of all British men of letters on things American, as well as British. For while Professor Lapsley looks all over the British college don and holds the chair of medieval history at the now almost deserted Cambridge university, he is by no means the insular minded man that one might easily have supposed Professor Lapsley has lived many years in America, serving at Harvard, and also in California, in university work. But he is a keen, interested observer of current history in the making, as well as a student of things of previous centuries.

We had been talking with J. P. Morgan and Ambassador Page, both on the way to London, and the point of British opinion of America had been led up to in a conversation covering a wide range.

"Well," said Prof. Lapsley in reply, "I hardly know how to express it best. I may say that Britons hold mingled sentiments—a mixture of indignation, wonder and bewilderment. A large part of the people are frankly indignant that America should not come out openly in the fight they feel is a fight for the advance of freedom among civilized nations. Among a smaller class, better read, perhaps, there is an effort to get your point of view as we learn it through official notes, acts, etc., but frankly we cannot."

I have become convinced from many talks with men in many walks in England that the professor's diagnosis is as correct as one can get. The man in the street makes no bones about it, and we are not popular in England. American residents there tell me they are made to feel it every day. When you arrive you are treated with a coolish courtesy, but certainly not with warmth.

Today, when the Noordam came into port here from Rotterdam, there was a great rush for newspapers, no news having been received by wireless since leaving Falmouth ten days ago. Among the seekers was Lord Brabourne, who came recently into his title through death at the front of his predecessor in the title. At once he leaped to news of the sinking by U-boats of the Marina.

"Now, will they act?" he exclaimed.

I called his attention to the fact that the Americans on board were not passengers, but employes of the British owners, a fact apparently putting them on their own responsibility and not under the pledges obtained by President Wilson on the submarine controversy.

"Oh, yes," his lordship cried, "always a way out in excuse," and strode away.

When the U-53 appeared off our coasts London papers made the news a great feature and editorialized by the column to prove that here at least were circumstances that should bring America over, lock, stock and barrel, on the side of the allies, and disgust grew when no such result was forthcoming.

Incidentally this was about the only piece of news from America that graced British papers for weeks. Beyond an occasional political article London papers practically ignore news from America, this supposing the censor does not stop it. For be it known that every word of news in English papers goes through that office.

Every Britisher on board the Noordam was anxious to get to America for one openly expressed reason, at least—that he could get more news of the big war than he could anywhere else in the world.

At the moment nothing is talked about more in the home politics of England than the rapidly moving nationalization—some critics call it socialization or Germanization—of the industries affecting the necessaries of life, and more particularly the necessaries of war.

Taking control of wheat is felt to be a step calling for more steps, possibly control of sale, control of price, control of shipping and shipping rates. It is felt that even control of all the food staples and of all public utilities and even of land rental values may come.

Enormous vested interests will fight this to the last, particularly the land holders of the nobility, the shipping people and makers of war profits generally. Under the plea of war necessity the coalition government can go far along these lines, but even now they have halted at absolute prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor, limiting retail sales to two hours at noon, and three in the evenings. This, however, has not thus far apparently lessened output and consumption, I am told.

But so rapid has been the increase of the cost of living in England (a pound sterling now being worth, according to the official figures, only 13 of the 20 shillings it was worth before the war) that the labor party has gained in power rapidly. Income taxation, running about 15 per cent for a $5,000 income and sliding up and down above and below that figure, renders the pound of income still less available

The tax on profits in war times of 50 per cent of the increase over peace time helps add to the burden.

Yet despite all the manifold burdens and pains war imposes, in spite of the call for more men and still more men, in spite of the losses of 100,000 a month, one cannot ignore the fact that England fully believes she is going to be on the winning side—when the time comes.

But it is generally felt that that time is not immediately at hand, that it certainly will not be within a few months, that it may be even two or more years.

This certainly seems to intensify the feeling against America for maintaining her neutrality.

Obituary.

Mary A. Cress was born in Augusta county, Virginia, August 9, 1843, and departed this life November 11, 1916, at the home of her son-in-law, Elmer Russell, northwest of Barnard, Mo., aged 73 years, 3 months, 2 days.

She was married to William Byington, November 11, 1858, in Lee county, Virginia. To this union were born ten children, all of whom remain to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. The names of the children are as follows: Rebecca Burchett, Bolckow, Mo.; Daniel, Jonesville, Va.; Mary McDaniel, Bertrand, Okla.; Margaret Mise, Plain View, Texas; John, Lockney, Texas; Cora, Graham, Mo.; Addie Allen, Langley, Ky.; Alice Russell, Barnard, Mo.; William, Bedford, Ia.; Robert, Delrio, Texas. There are twenty-six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

She was converted at the age of 16 and united with the Baptist church, and lived a true and faithful Christian life until the Master called her to the fellowship of the church triumphant, which is without fault before the throne of God. Her entire life was given in service to her Christ and those dear to her by earthly ties. The family worship was never neglected by this godly mother, and its influence will ever be remembered by those with whom she was associated and lead them heavenward.

The funeral service was conducted by the writer at 10:30 o'clock, November 13, 1916, from the house. The body was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Bolckow, Mo.

Linen and China Shower.

A delightful evening was spent at the Henry Berg home last Sunday, when a number of the friends of Miss Frances Berg, who is to be married to Emmett Cummins soon, assembled and gave her a pleasant surprise in the form of a linen and china shower. Many beautiful and elaborate gifts were received.

On arrival the guests were received by the hostess, Miss Christina Berg, in the recepion hall and punch was served, after which they were conducted to the parlor, where the evening was spent playing games and listening to music. At 11 o'clock a delicious two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her sisters, Misses Laura and Veronica Berg, and Miss Marguerite Spire. The luncheon and the decorations were carried out in pink and white. At a late hour the guests departed, feeling that they had spent a pleasant evening. Those present were: Misses Frances Berg, May Allen, Lucy Archer, Margaret Allen, Margaret Bansbach of St. Louis, Laura and Veronica Berg, Lydia Cordes, Florence and Irene Corcoran, May Graham, Anna and Mary Eckhouse, Mary Costello, Ora and Loretta McManus, Marguerite Spire of Parnell, Mayme Cummins and Irene Tobin of Burlington Junction, and the hostess; Emmett Cummins, James Allen, Tom and Joe Archer, Samuel Allen, A. J. Bansbach, Leo Graham, Albert Eckhouse, Cornelius and Harold McManus, Henry Berg, Dewey Shapley, George Waske, Robert Tobin and Will Cummins of Burlington Junction.

WORD FROM J. O. MORRIS

Former Parnell Man Makes Success Out in Washington—Describes Trip to Alaska.

The Everett Daily Herald, of Everett, Wash., has an article concerning J. O. Morris, one of the former residents of Nodaway county, who was reared close to Parnell and is a brother-in-law of ex-Sheriff George L. Evans of Maryville.

Mr. Morris left Nodaway county many years ago a poor man, but has since become the head of one of the largest canning companies in Alaska. This company is known as the Everett Packing company.

Before the last large plant was built, Mr. Morris took a trip to the Herenden region, Alaska, and gives some interesting details of his trip. He says that the country abounds in grizzly and kodiak bears, besides all kinds of other game. Fish, too, are plentiful. He saw caribou, wild geese, eider ducks, jacksnipe, ptarmigan and snowshoe rabbits in abundance.

The mountain scenery, he says, is the most wonderful on earth. All along the Alaskan peninsula mountains rise from the water in some places on both sides of the passage higher than Mount Ranier, being from 15,000 to 22,000 feet.
